PERSPECTIVE: A number of legislations are enforced by the Central and State Governments to ensure safety, health and welfare of employees, safeguard the public at large and preserve the environment. In addition, certain legislations prescribe technical standards and requirements which dangerous machines/equipment's and hazardous substances must conform to. Recent changes made in safety legislations have placed increased responsibility on managements, particularly of those using hazardous processes and chemicals. The Petroleum Rules, 2002 and Explosives Rules, 2001, The Central Electricity Authority Regulations 2023, The Gas Cylinder Rules, 2016, The Static, Mobile Pressure Vessels Rules, 2016 and The Hazardous Waste (Management, Handling and Transboundary Movement) Rules, 2016 have been amended in the recent past. Statutes on Occupational Safety and Health prescribe various provisions which require to be implemented with correct spirit. The training program is being organised to discuss the different provision of the statutes with latest amendments.

OBJECTIVE: On completion of this program, the participant will be able to to acquaint themselves with the principles behind the law, refresh and update their knowledge about the provisions of the Acts and their Rules with recent amendments.

WHO SHALL ATTEND: The programme is best suited for Safety Officers, Personnel/Legal Officers, Labour Officers and other Officers responsible for compliance with safety and health provisions and also Trade Union Representatives and Officials from Enforcement Agencies.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY: This program will be conducted in 4 hours video based session.
